

We've worked together through the years Doing all kinds of things I've tended to do more of the work Which is fine

With all the new realities Of life I need to be paid

But I think now

Something